Los Potreritos Ranch.

“Constellation made it easy and clear from the start. The price quoted and the service provided have been exactly what we needed.”

Customer Profile.

Los Potreritos Ranch is a small, family-owned ranch in Texas that raises and sells sheep. As a single-location operation, the business focuses on providing quality livestock while managing costs carefully to support long-term growth.

The Challenge.

As a first-time business operating in a remote area, Los Potreritos Ranch had concerns about the cost and complexity of setting up electricity service. Understanding what pricing would look like and whether the process would be straightforward were top priorities.

That uncertainty made it important to find a provider that could offer clarity and simple, transparent contract terms.

The Solution.

Constellation worked closely with the ranch to provide a clear quote and explain the available options in simple terms. Their sales rep walked through the pricing structure and contract details, helping address concerns about serving a remote location.

The straightforward process and transparent terms gave the ranch confidence in their decision.
